Novokhopyorsk Vegetable Oil Processing Plant. Russia

1897

The plant with a century-long history of successful work!

More than 120 years ago in the town of Novokhopyorsk, Voronezh region, Russia, a plant, now known as OOO ZRM Novokhopyorsky, was launched.

Back in 1897, its daily press capacity was only 700-800 liters of oil. In 1990, the plant produced 50 tons of natural products per day

Nowadays the company has changed:

- modern production equipment is installed in the workshops
- a new administration building, canteen and utility rooms are built
- the plant processes over 200 tons of sunflower per day
- retail shop is opened near the plant

Reasons of success

The oil tastes good and smells natural.

High-quality 100% natural raw materials are used for the production, without artificial additives and odors, without thickeners and preservatives.
